Since 2002, the counseling center for people affected by right-wing violence has been supporting and assisting people in dealing with the consequences of a right-wing politically motivated attack and in compensating for the damage.

WHO CAN CONTACT US?

Our offer is aimed at people who have been attacked and/or threatened due to ethnic, cultural, religious, sexual or economic characteristics or attributions, due to a psychological disability or because of their commitment against right-wing extremism. We offer advice to people who are directly affected by an attack as well as for those indirectly affected. To family members, friends and witnesses of the incident.

THE SUPPORT WE CAN OFFER

The guidance in principle supports the interests of those affected by right-wing violence. It is free of charge, confidential, anonymous if you wish and independent of filing a police report. Our counseling center offers crisis intervention, psycho-social and trauma-pedagogical advice, orientation and clarification assistance. We also can accompany you to legal administrations, and medical facilities. We offer help with the application for compensation payments and can put you in touch with lawyers and therapists.
